

720 In The Books

The history of this one..makes you laugh.....The composers didn't know what to call it...so they were bookies....and they looked in their books and the next number was 720....in their books....so that is what they called this composition.....LOL It is a BigBand piece...that goes really fast....BUT that isn't how I hear it. Imagine....somewhere....back....in the swamps of Louisiana....back in a bar. I see an old man in coveralls.....walking up to an old upright piano.....placing his cigarette....on the top of the piano with the flame pointing off the piano and putting his beer beside him on the piano lid....and jamming his heart out.....playing the BLUES!!!! Go listen to it....with that in mind..... See if you can hear it.....
