

Love Story

This is the first movie that I ever cried all the way through. It was so full of passion. I softened the introduction in hopes it would sound like someone that had just lost their love instead of loud and pounding like the introduction to a horror movie....LOL This is how I truly feel this piece with tension and total sensual release, with passion and breathy tears.....almost like holding your breath it is so sensitive.....so intimate.....